ORDER DENYING PETITION FOR WRIT OF MANDAMUS

This original proper person petition for a writ of mandamus challenges the district court's alleged refusal to comply with our prior order reversing and remanding the district court's custody order.¹ Having reviewed the petition and the district court's answer, we conclude that petitioner has not demonstrated that extraordinary relief is warranted.² In particular, it appears that we could grant no effective relief, since the ²See Smith v. District Court, 107 Nev. 674, 818 P.2d 849 (1991) (stating that whether to grant extraordinary relief is within this court's discretion).

district court has lost the report at issue in the prior appeal and, despite attempts to obtain another copy from its author, has been unable to do so. Moreover, respondent cannot be located and, thus, she cannot participate in any hearings on remand at this time. Accordingly, we

ORDER the petition DENIED.
