DEPUTY CLERK

ORDER OF AFFIRMANCE

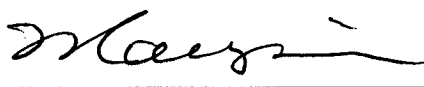

This is a proper person appeal from a district court order dismissing a complaint alleging violations of the federal Telephone Consumer Protection Act (TCPA), state deceptive trade practices claims, and state tort claims. Eighth Judicial District Court, Clark County; Elizabeth Goff Gonzalez, Judge.

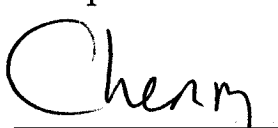

On October 19, 2004, Appellant Paul Edwards filed a consumer protection complaint against respondent, Coronet Enterprises, Inc., et. al., based on a one-page fax received on his home fax machine sometime on or about October 29, 2002, which solicited Edwards to contact Coronet for a mortgage offer. Edwards has filed a series of similar lawsuits against other persons or entities.

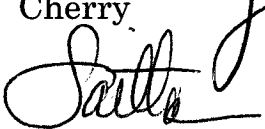

In his complaint for damages and injunctive relief, Edwards claimed that Coronet: 1) violated the federal Telephone Consumer Protection Act (TCPA) as enumerated in 47 U.S.C. § 227; 2) committed a deceptive trade practice in violation of NRS 598.0915-25; and 3) committed the common-law torts of conversion and private nuisance. Edwards sought both injunctive relief and damages in excess of $10,000.

The district court dismissed Edwards' complaint on December 14, 2004, without prejudice. Thereafter, Edwards appealed the dismissal to this court, and we affirmed the district court's dismissal. Edwards then re-filed his complaint on February 15, 2006. The district court ultimately dismissed the action with prejudice and this appeal followed. We conclude that the district court correctly dismissed the matter.¹ Accordingly we

ORDER the judgment of the district court AFFIRMED.
