ORDER DISMISSING APPEAL

This is a proper person appeal from a district court order granting a motion to quash service of process as insufficient. Eighth Judicial District Court, Clark County; Michael Villani, Judge.

Our review of the documents transmitted to this court pursuant to NRAP 3(e) reveals jurisdictional defects. This court has jurisdiction to consider an appeal only where the appeal is authorized by statute or court rule.<sup>1</sup> No statute or court rule authorizes an appeal from an order granting a motion to quash service of process.<sup>2</sup> Once the district court enters a final judgment resolving all of the claims against all of the parties, such as a formal order dismissing the action, appellant may file an <sup>3</sup>See Lee v. GNLV Corp., 116 Nev. 424, 996 P.2d 416 (2000) (defining a final judgment as a judgment that disposes of the issues presented in the case and leaves nothing for the future consideration of the court except for post-judgment issues such as attorney fees and costs).

<sup>4</sup>In light of this order, appellant need not file the civil proper person appeal statement or transcript request form sent to him on September 6, 2007. We note that appellant's failure to pay the filing fee or demonstrate compliance with NRAP 24(a) constitutes an independent basis for dismissing this appeal.
