ORDER OF AFFIRMANCE

This is an appeal from a district court order granting an injunction in a contract action. Eighth Judicial District Court, Clark County; Mark R. Denton, Judge.

On appeal, appellant Ardent Progressive Systems and Games, LLC, argues that the district court committed plain error in issuing an injunction concerning computer source code for a slot machine accounting system because the district court lacks subject matter jurisdiction over disputes concerning the administration, licensing, control, supervision, and discipline of gaming. We find this argument to be without merit.

“An error is ‘plain’ if ‘the error is so unmistakable that it reveals itself by a casual inspection of the record.’” Torres v. Farmers Insurance Exchange, 106 Nev. 340, 345 n.2, 793 P.2d 839, 842 n.2 (1990) (quoting Williams v. Zellhoefer, 89 Nev. 579, 580, 517 P.2d 789, 789 (1983)). Because this is a contract dispute that does not concern the administration, licensing, control, supervision, and discipline of gaming, cf. State of Nevada v. District Court, 111 Nev. 1023, 1025, 899 P.2d 1121, 1122 (1995) (noting that the district court lacks jurisdiction over the “administration, licensing, control, supervision, and discipline of gaming”), the district court did not exceed its jurisdiction in issuing the injunction.

Thus, finding no plain error, we

ORDER the judgment of the district court AFFIRMED.
