ORDER DENYING WRIT PETITIONS

The above-captioned matters are essentially identical original proper person writ petitions challenging a district court order dismissing petitioner's complaint under NRCP 41(e) rather than NRCP 4(i).¹ In Docket No. 57525, petitioner also challenges this court's order of affirmance in Docket No. 55225. The petitions include no supporting documents, in violation of NRAP 21(a). Also, an order dismissing a complaint is a final judgment, appealable pursuant to NRAP 3A(b)(1). Lee v. GNLV Corp., 116 Nev. 424, 996 P.2d 416 (2000). Writ relief is not warranted when an appeal is an adequate legal remedy. NRS 34.020; NRS 34.160; NRS 34.320; Pan v. Dist. Ct., 120 Nev. 222, 88 P.3d 840 (2004). Here, petitioner filed an appeal, his arguments were considered, and this court affirmed. No further review of this matter is available. Accordingly, we deny the petitions.

As demonstrated by the instant petitions, petitioner has inundated this court with meritless filings on this matter. We caution him that any further petitions concerning the underlying action may result in restrictions on his ability to file papers in forma pauperis. See Jordan v. State, Dept. of Motor Vehicles, 121 Nev. 44, 110 P.3d 30 (2005), abrogated on other grounds by Buzz Stew, LLC v. City of N. Las Vegas, 124 Nev. 224, 181 P.3d 670 (2008).

It is so ORDERED.
