IN THE SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF NEVADA

AARON K. DANIELS, Appellant, vs. THE STATE OF NEVADA, Respondent. No. 64102

ORDER DISMISSING APPEAL

The notice of appeal filed in this matter does not "designate the judgment, order or part thereof being appeal" as required by NRAP 3(c)(1)(B). It simply states that appellant "hereby files this Notice of Appeal." The intent to appeal from an appealable final judgment cannot be reasonably inferred from that notice or any documents transmitted with it pursuant to NRAP 3(g). See generally Abdullah v. State, 129 Nev. 294 P.3d 419 (2013) (observing that intent to appeal from a specific judgment or order that is not designated in a notice of appeal may be reasonably inferred from the notice and other documents submitted in The most recent minutes included with the documents the appeal). transmitted pursuant to NRAP 3(g) indicate that appellant pleaded guilty to second-degree murder on September 19, 2013, and has not yet been sentenced. Although NRS 177.015(3) indicates that a defendant may appeal from "a final judgment or verdict in a criminal case," (emphasis added); see also George v. State, 122 Nev. 1, 127 P.3d 1055 (2006), there was no verdict that could be the subject of this appeal. And because there has not been an "announcement of a decision, sentence or order," we cannot treat this as a premature appeal from the judgment of conviction.

SUPREME COURT OF NEVADA NRAP 4(b)(2). Based on appellant's failure to designate an appealable judgment or order as required by NRAP 3(c)(1)(B), we conclude that we lack jurisdiction over this appeal and therefore
