CHIEF DEPUTY CLERK

ORDER OF AFFIRMANCE

This is an appeal from a district court order revoking probation and an amended judgment of conviction. Eighth Judicial District Court, Clark County; Elissa F. Cadish, Judge.

Appellant Miguel Gonzalez argues the district court abused its discretion by revoking his probation. Gonzalez asserts there was insufficient evidence produced at the revocation hearing to establish he violated the terms of his probation.

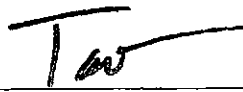

We review the district court's decision to revoke probation for abuse of discretion. See Lewis v. State, 90 Nev. 436, 438, 529 P.2d 796, 797 (1974). At the revocation hearing, the State presented evidence that Gonzalez had unapproved contacts with minors, he failed to report these contacts to his probation officer, and he only reported the contacts when a polygraph examination determined he was being evasive. After presentation of this evidence, the district court specifically concluded Gonzalez's contact with a 13-year-old boy during a card game was a serious violation of his probation. The district court further concluded the evidence presented at the revocation hearing demonstrated Gonzalez's conduct was not as good as required by the conditions of his probation.

See id. Based upon the record before this court, we conclude the district court did not abuse its discretion by revoking Gonzalez's probation. Accordingly, we

ORDER the order revoking probation and amended judgment of conviction AFFIRMED.
