ORDER OF AFFIRMANCE

This is an appeal from a district court summary judgment in a civil rights action. Eighth Judicial District Court, Clark County; Richard Scotti, Judge.

Below, respondents moved for summary judgment on appellant's underlying claims arguing, among other things, that they were barred by the applicable statute of limitations. The district court granted this motion over appellant's opposition and this appeal followed.

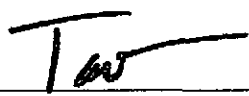

On appeal, appellant discusses his concerns with dental and medical treatment he received, but does not address the timing of his complaint or the proceedings before the district court. Indeed; appellant's informal brief does not discuss the statute of limitations grounds on which summary judgment was granted to respondents or even argue that the district court's decision was erroneous. Instead, the sole statement of district court error provided by appellant is the assertion that "I feel that [it's] very hard to win a state lawsuit in state."

116-900679

Thus, because appellant has failed to provide cogent arguments regarding the limitations grounds on which summary judgment was granted to respondents, we conclude he has waived any challenge to the grant of summary judgment on this basis. See Edwards v. Emperor's Garden Rest., 122 Nev. 317, 330 n.38, 130 P.3d 1280, 1288 n.38 (2006) (providing that an appellate court need not consider claims that are not cogently argued); see also Powell v. Liberty Mut. Fire Ins. Co., 127 Nev. 156, 161 n.3, 252 P.3d 668, 672 n.3 (2011) (providing that arguments not raised on appeal are deemed waived). As a result, we necessarily

ORDER the judgment of the district court AFFIRMED.
