ORDER OF AFFIRMANCE

This is an appeal from a judgment of conviction entered pursuant to a guilty plea of injury to property. Fifth Judicial District Court, Nye County; Kimberly A. Wanker, Judge.

Appellant Christine MacDonald claims her sentence of 181 days in the county jail with credit for 181-days' time served constitutes cruel and unusual punishment because it is disproportionate to her crime, fails to provide treatment for her drug addiction, and ignores her underlying drug addiction problem.

Regardless of its severity, a sentence that is within the statutory limits is not "cruel and unusual punishment unless the statute fixing punishment is unconstitutional or the sentence is so unreasonably disproportionate to the offense as to shock the conscience." Blume v. State, 112 Nev. 472, 475, 915 P.2d 282, 284 (1996) (quoting Culverson v. State, 95 Nev. 433, 435, 596 P.2d 220, 221-22 (1979)); see also Harmelin v. Michigan, 501 U.S. 957, 1000-01 (1991) (plurality opinion) (explaining the Eighth Amendment does not require strict proportionality between crime and sentence; it forbids only an extreme sentence that is grossly disproportionate to the crime).

Here, the sentence imposed is within the parameters provided by the relevant statutes, see NRS 193.140; NRS 193.155(2); NRS 206.310(1), and MacDonald does not allege these statutes are unconstitutional. We note the record demonstrates MacDonald was placed in the Fifth Judicial District Adult Drug Court Program prior to sentencing, she failed to comply with the drug court program's rules and requirements, she was terminated from the program, and she was returned to the district court for further proceedings. We conclude the sentence imposed is not grossly disproportionate to the crime and does not constitute cruel and unusual punishment, and we

ORDER the judgment of conviction AFFIRMED.
