ORDER DISMISSING APPEAL

This is a proper person appeal from an order of the district court denying a document labeled "motion for ruling on defendant's objections to factual inaccuracies in PSI report and for correction of factual inaccuracies in PSI report." Our review of this appeal reveals a jurisdictional defect. The right to appeal is statutory; where no statute or court rule provides for an appeal, no right to appeal exists. Castillo v. State, 106 Nev. 349, 792 P.2d 1133 (1990). No statute or court rule provides for an appeal from an order denying a motion for ruling on defendant's objections to factual inaccuracies in PSI report and for correction of factual inaccuracies in PSI report. Accordingly, we

ORDER this appeal dismissed.¹

¹On September 19, 2000, this court received appellant's motion for stay of appeal proceedings so that he could seek alternate relief in the district court. On September 29, 2000, the State filed an opposition to appellant's motion. Cause appearing, we deny appellant's motion.
