ORDER OF AFFIRMANCE

Adell Cleo Cobbin appeals from a judgment of conviction entered pursuant to a plea of no contest to attempted possession of a stolen motor vehicle. Fourth Judicial District Court, Elko County; Nancy L. Porter, Judge.

Cobbin claims the district court abused its discretion by convicting him of a felony and sentencing him to prison. He argues that he has a limited criminal history, he is committed to making the victims whole,<sup>1</sup> and the State wrongly claimed he lacked remorse. And he asserts “[h]e was sorry in every sense if the word.”

We review a district court’s sentencing decision for abuse of discretion. Chavez v. State, 125 Nev. 328, 348, 213 P.3d 476, 490 (2009). We will not interfere with the sentence imposed by the district court “[s]o long as the record does not demonstrate prejudice resulting from consideration of information or accusations founded on facts supported only by impalpable or highly suspect evidence.” Silks v. State, 92 Nev. 91, 94, 545 P.2d 1159, 1161 (1976).

Here, Cobbin’s sentence falls within the parameters of the relevant statutes. See NRS 193.130(2)(d); NRS 193.330(1)(a)(4); NRS 205.273(3). Cobbin has not alleged the district court relied on impalpable or highly suspect evidence. And the record plainly shows that the district court based its sentencing decision on Cobbin’s failure to learn from the sentences he received for his past crimes. Accordingly, we conclude the district court did not abuse its discretion at sentencing, and we
