ORDER DISMISSING APPEAL

This is a proper person appeal from a district court order finding appellant in contempt for failure to comply with a prior court order, and authorizing the removal of appellant from the subject premises. Our review of this appeal reveals a jurisdictional defect. Specifically, the contempt order is not substantively appealable. We recently held that we do not have jurisdiction over an appeal from a contempt order, and that a contempt order is properly challenged through a petition for extraordinary relief under NRS chapter 34.<sup>1</sup>

We note that on April 30, 2001, appellant filed a petition for a writ of prohibition in this court challenging the April 20, 2001 contempt order (Docket No. 37797).

Accordingly, we conclude that we lack jurisdiction over this appeal, and we

ORDER this appeal DISMISSED.<sup>2</sup>

<sup>2</sup>We have considered all proper person documents filed or received in this matter, and we conclude that the relief requested is not warranted. In particular, we deny as moot appellant's motion for a stay received on May 1, 2001.
