Things have been good, thank you for asking. It has been a while.

I'll update the viewers that the JAVS is being released. I can only speculate that despite there being minute orders mentioning a seal, the release is occurring because no actual written order sealing is filed. If you or the CIO would like to offer clarity on the release I can go with that instead. I just want to be as fair to the government as possible given the recent SB432 coverage.

Please find the attached records request.

I understand the JAVS requests usually go to only one of your email addresses, but there are portions of the request asking for reasons as to potential destruction or alteration that may be best handled by the standard records request email. If the requested JAVS video was destroyed, the date and circumstances of its destruction would be highly newsworthy.
